Why doesn't good intimacy guarantee good sex?

Why does great sex so often fade for couples who claim to love each other as much as ever?

Can we want what we already have?

Based on the international bestseller "Mating in Captivity: Unlocking Erotic Intelligence" (translated into 24 languages), this bold new take on intimacy and sex grapples with the obstacles and anxieties that arise when our quest for secure love conflicts with our pursuit of passion. We will tackle eroticism as a quality of aliveness and vitality in relationships extending far beyond mere sexuality and consider how the need for secure attachment and closeness can co-exist with the quest for individuality and freedom.

Participants will learn to:

- Offer a non-judgmental, relative and multicultural understanding of the differing notions of love, marriage and sexual behaviors, and to highlight the relation between culture and sexuality.
- Invert the traditional therapeutic priorities using the sexual relationship as a lens into the individual and the couple's dynamics.
- Demonstrate how changing the sexual relation can transform a couple's entire relationship.
- Learn why increased emotional intimacy can lead to decreased sexual desire.
- Help couples balance their need for security and closeness with their quest for separateness and passion.
