Participants will learn how to:

- Intervene in impasses resulting from discrepant sexual desire, sexual routine, pursuer-distancer dynamic, power struggles, lack of intimacy, cybersex, and de-sexualizing of partners.
- Design creative interventions to unlock erotic blocks stemming from shame, fear, guilt and trauma.
- Help couples negotiate their sexual styles, and take emotional risks to open up sexual communication about boundaries, fidelity and monogamy.
- Identify three patterns in the way couples reorganize themselves after an infidelity.

This applied clinical course includes didactic material, which draws from psychoanalytic and attachment theory, systemic and IMAGO therapy. Using case examples and experiential exercises, it addresses couples from all sexual orientations.
